Help with ADHD

By MELODEE PRICE, EARLY CHILDHOOD SPECIALIST

Attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) is sometimes referred to as Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD). It is usually first diagnosed once a child reaches the school system. That is because the teacher discovers that the child is having a hard time paying attention and may daydream a lot. The child may appear not to be listening or is easily distracted from school work or play. The child may forget things easily, squirm, talk too much, not be able to play quietly, act and speak without thinking, have trouble taking turns and may interrupt others. These are all typical behaviors of children younger than 6 years old. Once they reach the school system they should be outgrowing these behaviors or tendencies. Dealing with a child who has ADHD can be very challenging. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) sponsors the National Resource Center, a program of Children and Adults with Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder. Their web site has links to information for people with ADHD and their families (www.help4adhd.org). You can also learn more by attending my training session this quarter simply called Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder.

Celebrating Summer

By CHERYL WOLFE, TRAILS EC SPECIALIST

June 21, 2010 is the first day of Summer. Many cultures and religions celebrate the summer season in different ways. We will see more daylight and the weather will be warmer. Summer is a time to garden with young children. Gardening is educational, fun, and may encourage a child to eat some of that "green stuff" he or she grows. You may start your garden small by recycling old egg cartons. Fill large eggshells with seeds and good soil. Sage, rosemary, lavender and chamomile are good choices to start in your garden. Choose a window sill that lets the sun in without getting too hot. Keep soil watered but not soggy. Children will love to watch these plants grow and this allows them to connect with where our food comes from. Once the first green leaves appear from the seeds, the children may plant them directly into the garden. The shell will decompose over time while providing calcium to your plants. Also crushed eggshells will provide calcium, nitrogen and phosphoric acid to your herb garden. So get your children outside and start "growing" in the spirit of the summer season!

"The smallest act of kindness is worth more than the grandest intentions." - Oscar Wilde

Ten Things Every Child Needs

By SHANNON NICHOLS, INFANT/TODDLER SPECIALIST

Did you know the brain is the only organ that is not fully developed at birth? It changes rapidly during the first three years of life and is affected by the types of early experiences a child has. We can help grow a child's brain by satisfying these ten essential needs.

Interaction - Play, talk and respond to children's cues.

Touch - Hold, cuddle, comfort and provide interesting things for children to feel.

Stable Relationships - Provide a regular, consistent caregiver that the child can trust.

Safe, Healthy Environments - Age appropriate materials that are cleaned regularly allows children to focus on learning rather than being sick or injured.

Self-Esteem - Respect who the child is and their individual abilities.

Communication - Respond to verbal and nonverbal cues and talk often with children.

Music - Sing, dance, play with instruments and have fun with rhythm and song.

Reading - Allow children to choose their books, to hold and turn the pages and to point to objects.

Play - Children learn through play. Provide opportunities to touch, taste, see, hear, and smell.

Quality Care - Quality care includes trained early childhood professionals who are responsive to the needs and characteristics of each child and family.

Research tells us that the first three years of a child's life are the most critical time in human development. Don't miss the chance to lay a solid foundation for the future.

HIGHCHAIR RECALL

Graco highchairs are listed on the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission recall list. They have determined that the screws holding the front legs of the high chair may loosen and fall out and/or that the plastic bracket on the rear legs may crack causing the high chair to become unstable and tip over unexpectedly. You will need to determine if the serial number of the highchair that you have is one of the recalls prior to calling for a repair kit. To order a free repair kit, you will need to contact Graco toll free at 1-877-842-3206 or visit the firm's web site at www.gracobaby.com. For additional information, contact Graco at 1-800-345-4109 between 8 am and 5 pm Monday thru Friday. If we can further assist you in any way, please feel free to call Kim, Leann or Willetta at the Elkins MountainHeart office at 1-877-862-3103.

Helmet Safety

By SARAH HICKS, NURSE HEALTH CONSULTANT

When we think of helmet safety, we often think of bike riding. However, this is just one of many activities that children participate in that should require a properly fitted helmet to protect from head injuries. When a helmet is worn, it takes the impact of the fall or collision instead of the brain or head.

When should a child wear a helmet?

- When riding a bike, scooter, or skateboard.
- When using roller, inline, or ice skates.
- When horseback riding.
- When playing baseball, football, hockey or lacrosse.
- When skiing or snowboarding.

A helmet only works if it is fitted properly, as well as being the right helmet for the right activity. For example, a child can't play football in a bicycle helmet. A properly fitting helmet should be snug yet comfortable. It should not move side to side or front to back. It should be level, not tilted forward or backward. It should be securely buckled under the chin.

A child should NOT wear a helmet if climbing trees or on playground equipment, as the helmet's chin strap could get caught and cause strangulation. The helmet may also cause the head to become entrapped.

Staff Participate in “Provider Appreciation Day”

Provider Appreciation Day is a special day to recognize child care providers, teachers and other educators of young children everywhere. This day was started in 1996 by a group of volunteers in New Jersey; Provider Appreciation Day is appropriately celebrated each year on the Friday before Mother's Day. MountainHeart North TRAILS Early Childhood Specialist, Cheryl Wolfe from Grafton, is pictured with Miss Alice Rogers of Elkins, West Virginia. Miss Alice started her career in child care in 1978 at a center in Randolph County.

She then proceeded to start doing family child care in her home in November 2005. Miss Alice received a book entitled “Tails are not for Pulling” by Elizabeth Verdick. This book will be a very important resource for Miss Alice because she has a beagle named Abby. We are privileged to know Miss Alice and thank her for a job “Well Done.” The staff at MountainHeart North would like to extend their gratitude to all child care providers and thank them for their hard work and dedication.

CONGRATULATIONS to Baby Cubs Academy, a Family Child Care Facility in Taylor County, for achieving Tier II Quality Status.

Week of the Young Child

During the Week of the Young Child, which was April 11th thru April 17th, 2010, the MountainHeart TRAILS van delivered a book and prop to each Taylor County provider and Pre-K site. The picture below is of Lori Dameron, TRAILS Associate, and Linda Boyles. Linda has been a child care provider in Taylor County since the summer of 1979. She has been in the TRAILS program since October 9, 2001. The books and props were purchased through the Taylor County Partners in Prevention Grant. The Partners of the Prevention Grant would like to thank everyone involved in this event.

"The TRAILS program teaches children to be responsible and care for other people's resources. TRAILS is a traveling lending resource similar to a public library. The children learn they must respect the TRAILS resources so that others may use them later."

- Linda Boyles

Child Care Subsidy Certificates

It is the responsibility of the child care provider and the child care recipient to make sure they have a valid certificate for payment. If a child care provider does not have a valid certificate, they will not be guaranteed payment. This is only a courtesy to the provider. The child care recipient is issued a certificate and they are to give that to their provider as verification of eligibility. A child care provider will only be paid for subsidy children in their care with a valid certificate. If a provider accepts a subsidy child without a valid certificate, there is no guarantee of payment for that child. A child care certificate is the only guarantee of payment.
